Foreword

Today the people of the world reflect the spirit of insecurity. We high school students, however, experience an interlude of four memorable and exciting years as we prepare for the future. We anticipate our best imprints on the page of each new day.

We are many. We are Woodwardites, students with an aim in mind, a way to go. We are resolute, earnest, congenial, happy, and discontented. We have moments of joy, hope, and dejection. We learn to fear, to apprehend, to discover. This is Woodward. What does she offer . . . how much can we absorb?

It has become part

A typical Woodwardite's day begins at 7 A.M. as a drowsy and muddled individual pulls out of bed at the call for breakfast. Sleepily, she prepares for the coming day.

She hurriedly consumes her toast, milk—notices the time—and hectically begins another day by chasing the morning bus.

Our student moves with many others—Others who come riding . . . walking . . . driving . . . all approaching the school on the corner of Seymour and Reading . . . all passing the statue of William Woodward who founded this school with his pioneer spirit and bestowed a rich heritage to us, his posterity.

The front hall is one spot which occupies a prominent place in the memories of former Woodwardites. They recall the clusters of chattering schoolmates . . . the passing of a bit of gossip . . . completion of last night's homework . . . the beginning of that wonderful friendship . . . the pep . . . the enthusiasm. It is truly memorable.

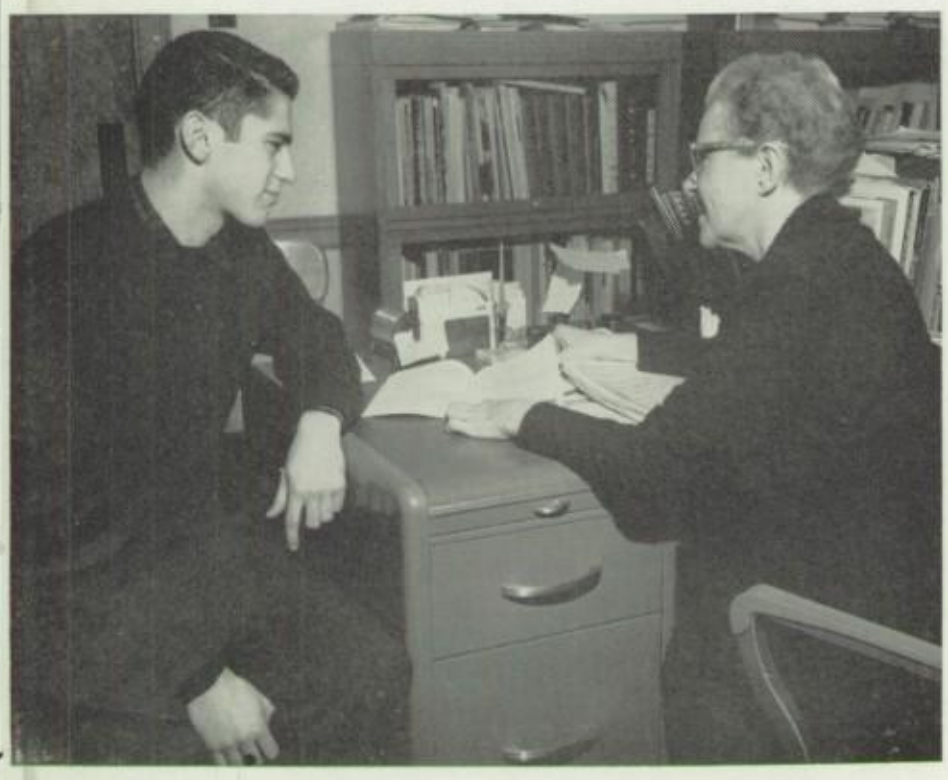
as our knowledge increases . . .



The first passing bell awakens the student to the realization that he must now think, write, and discuss in earnest. Each new class opens into a specific field of knowledge.

Our student welcomes a study period, preferably in the silence of the school library. During this break in the day's curriculum, he can unlock the door to new horizons. He may develop himself into a well-read individual by browsing through the fine collection of fiction, reference books, biographies, and magazines. He may travel, fight, hunt, swim, and relax. He may study.

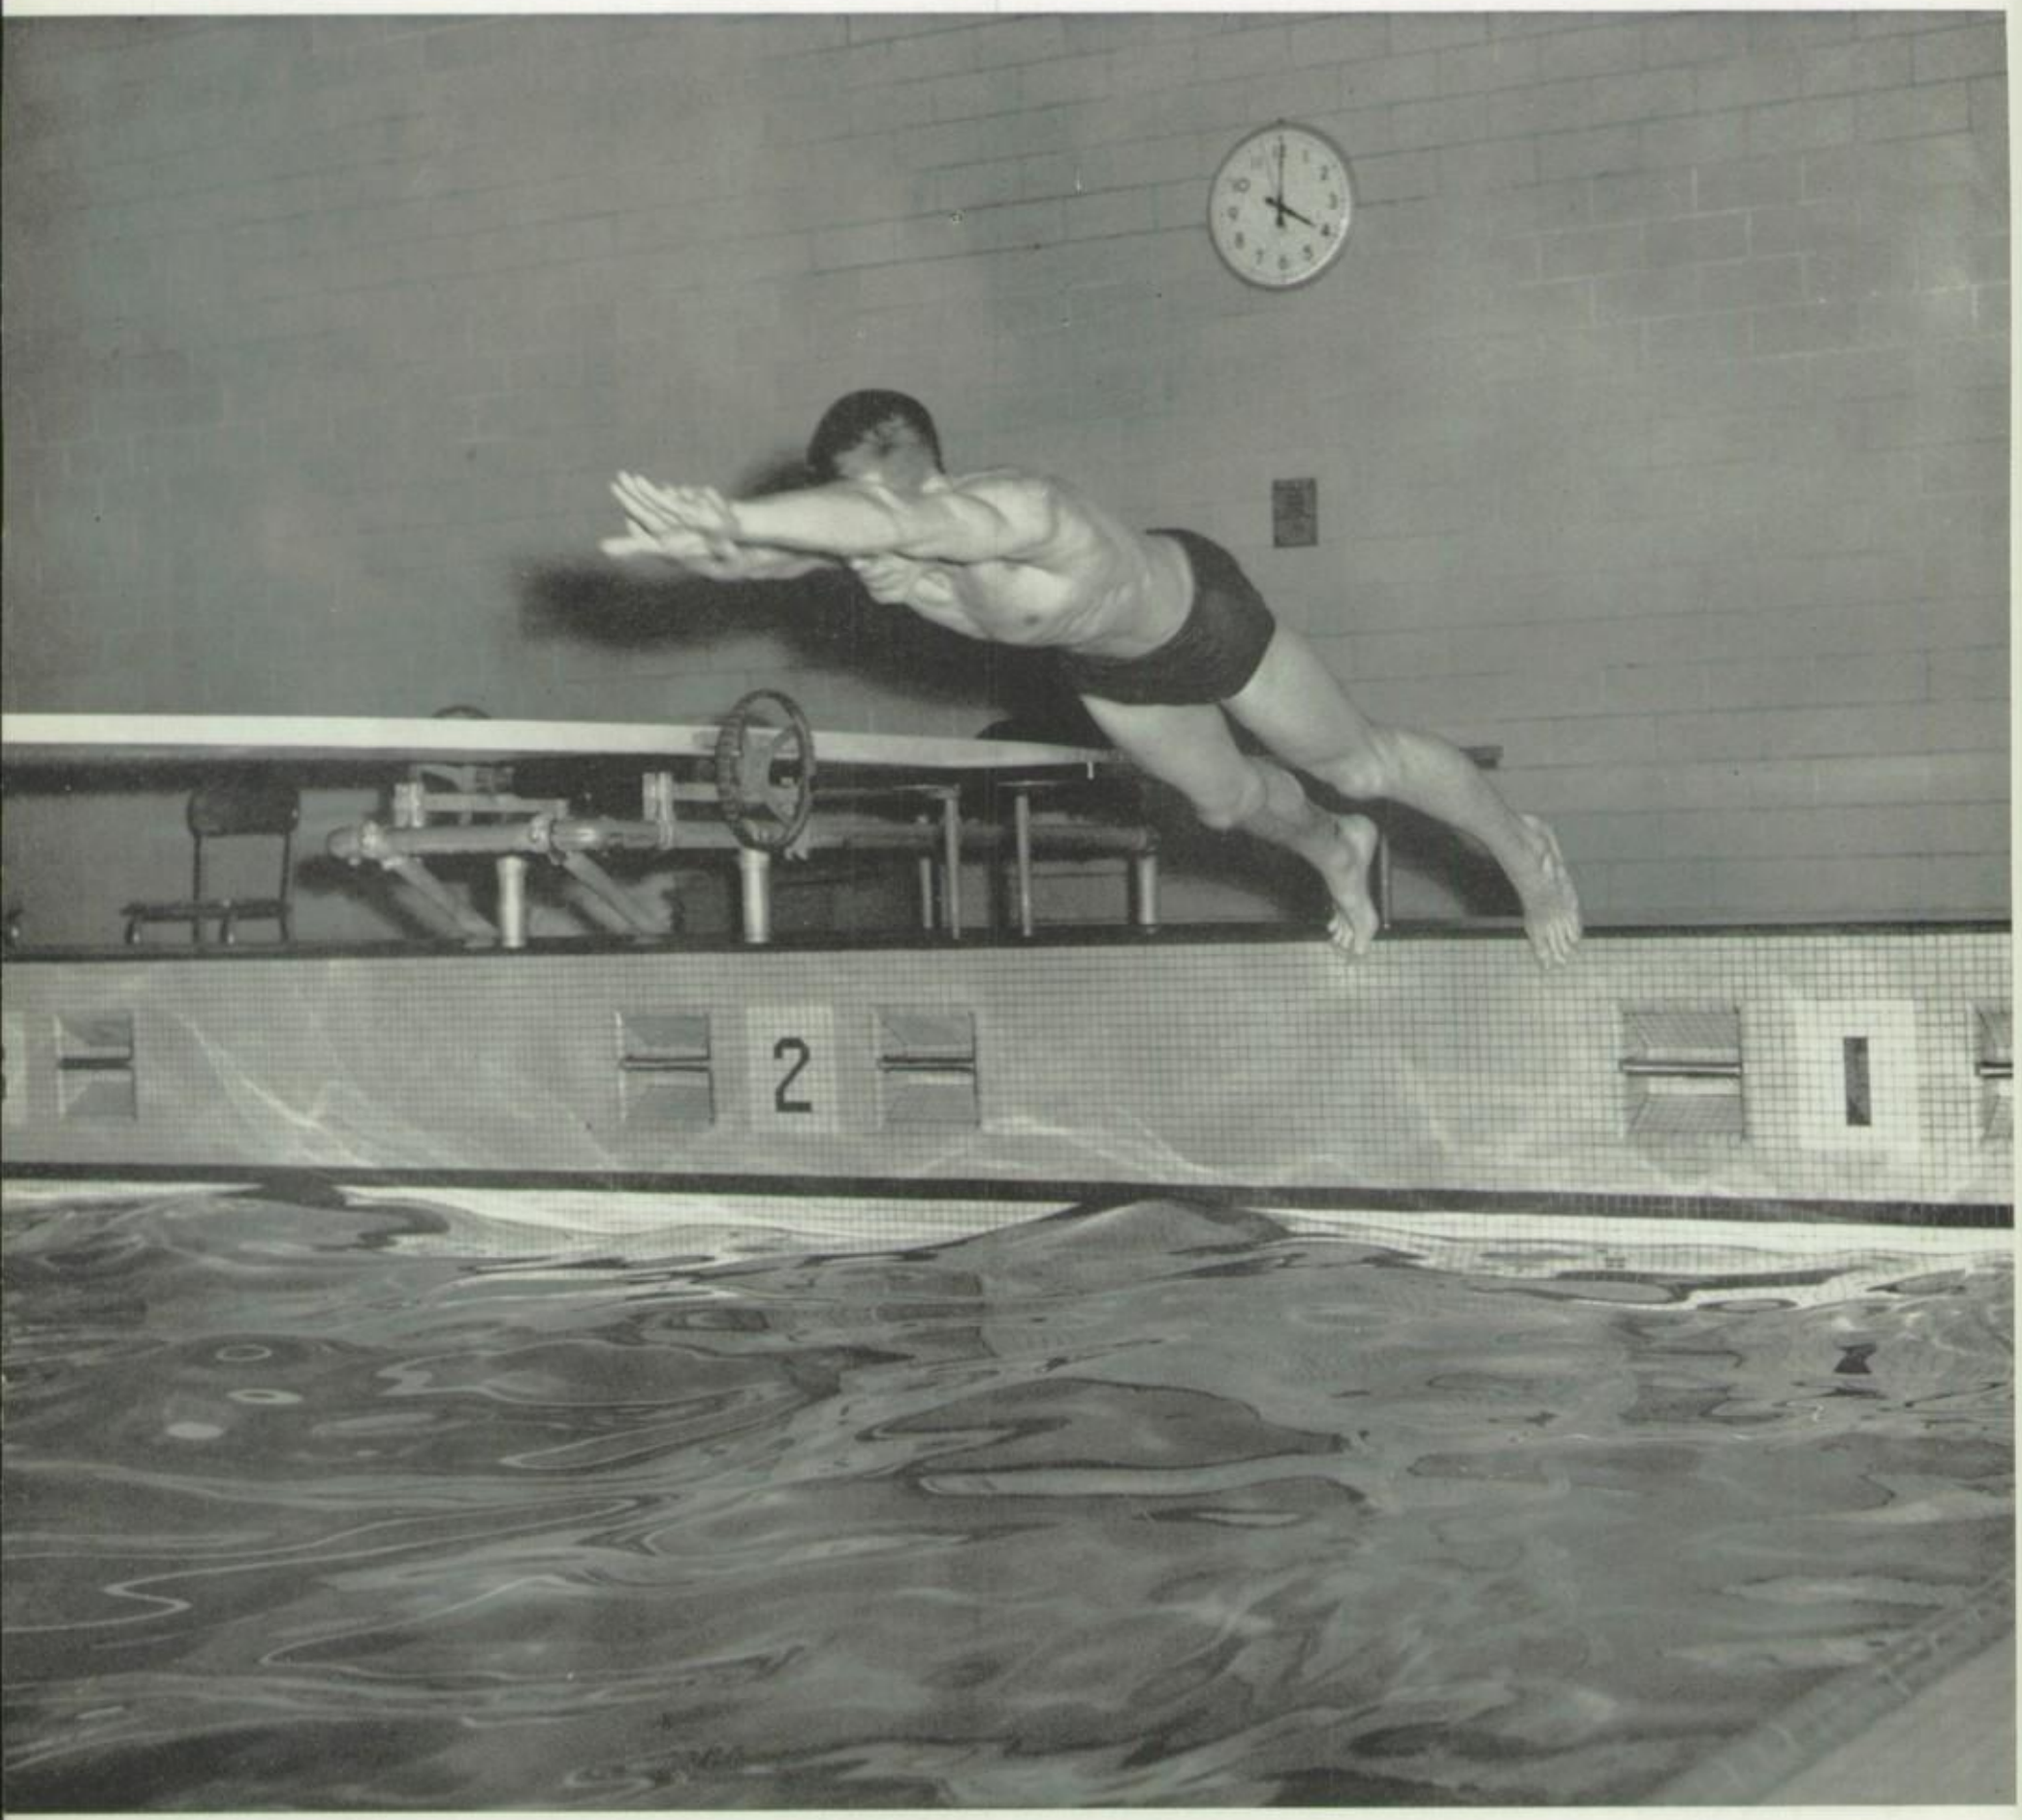
Most eagerly awaited by students and faculty is the brief half hour set aside for lunch. The student probably will make a procession through the lunch line and choose from a well-balanced menu. He then seats himself at a table in a modern lunchroom which in one day serves over 2000 bustling chattering, and energetic teenagers. He may eat to the accompaniment of music . . . of the latest news in sports and cars . . . or may be absorbed in his own thoughts. He leaves recuperated, refreshed, and ready for his coming classes.

An earnest discussion with a counselor helps the student in deciding and preparing for the future. He is ably guided in choosing the most beneficial subjects and planning a well-rounded schedule.

Routine with a flavor . . .

The spice and color of a busy school life are augmented by numerous assemblies, plays, and shows. These programs present an opportunity for students to learn and have fun as they perform skits, express their opinions, and participate in large productions. The Woodward Showcase is the result of the determination of its hard-working staff. Because of the quality of its presentation and the theatrical ability of its participants, it has become municipally famous.

Homeroom periods develop leadership, citizenship, and friendship: Leadership through participation; citizenship through cooperation; and friendship through consideration. At this time problems are discussed, schedules planned, and homework done.



Excitement reaches its peak with

Sound minds and bodies complement each other. Both are the product of health and cleanliness. Both may be further developed in sports, the field of physical recreation. Athletics is a course in physical and mental discipline. The degree of success is determined by the amount of hard work. Athletics develops leaders, good sports, and cooperative individuals. Athletics builds confidence and cooperation. It presents opportunity to benefit yourself and others.

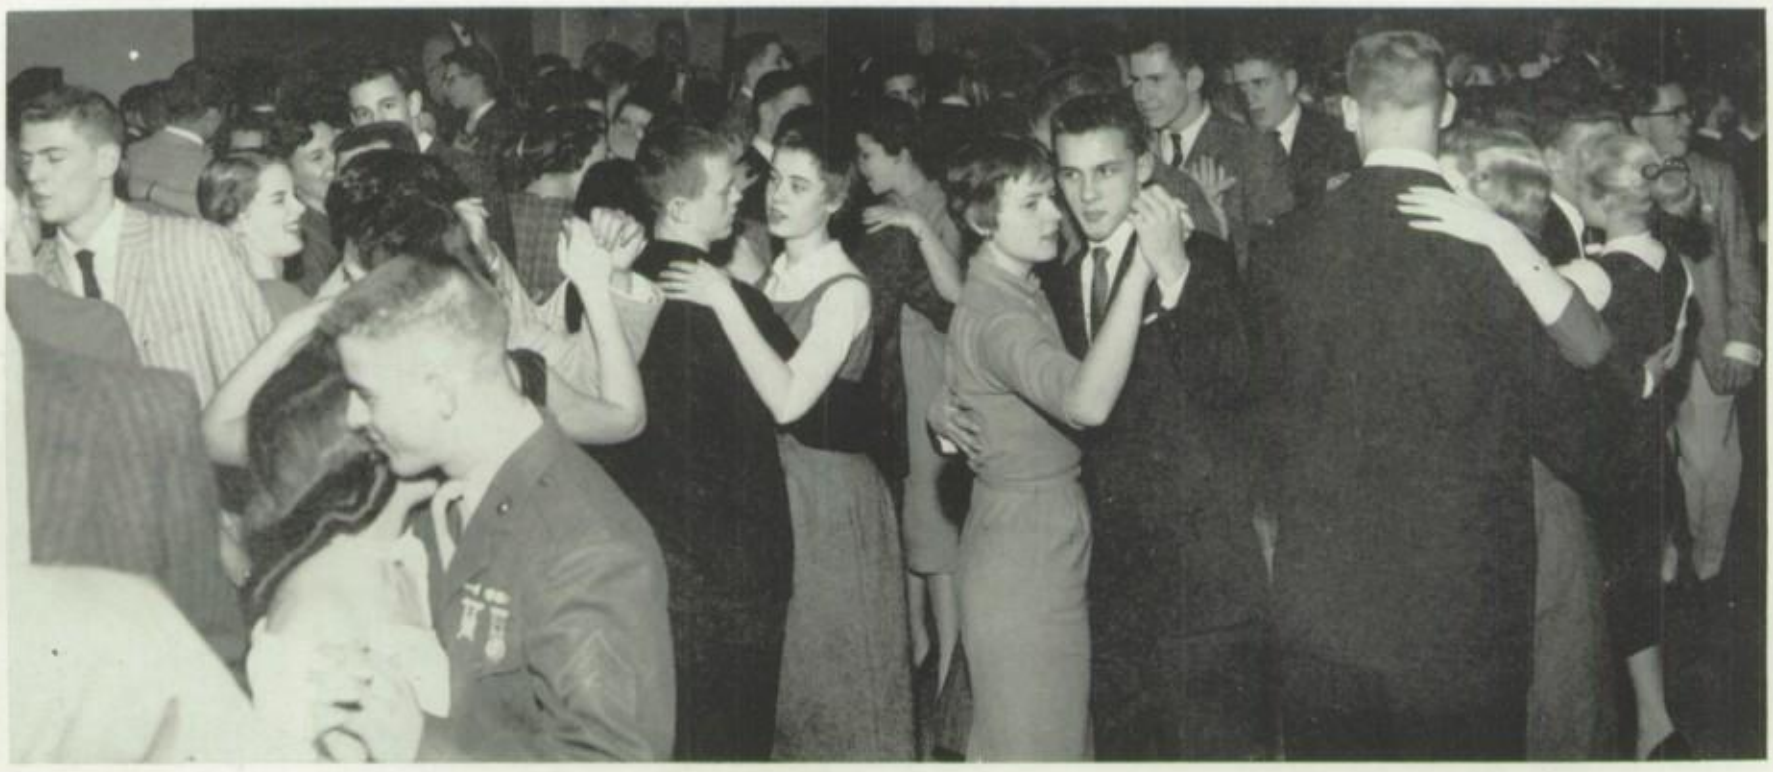
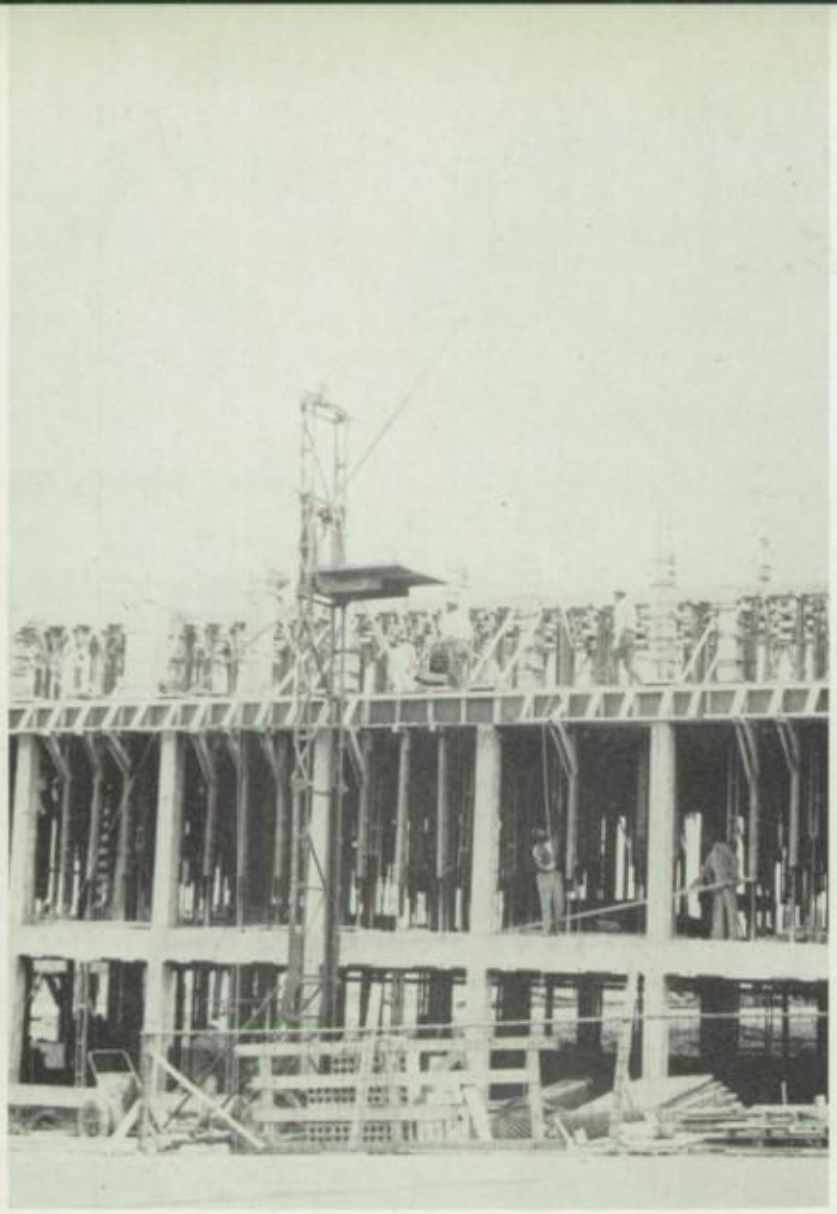
The parties

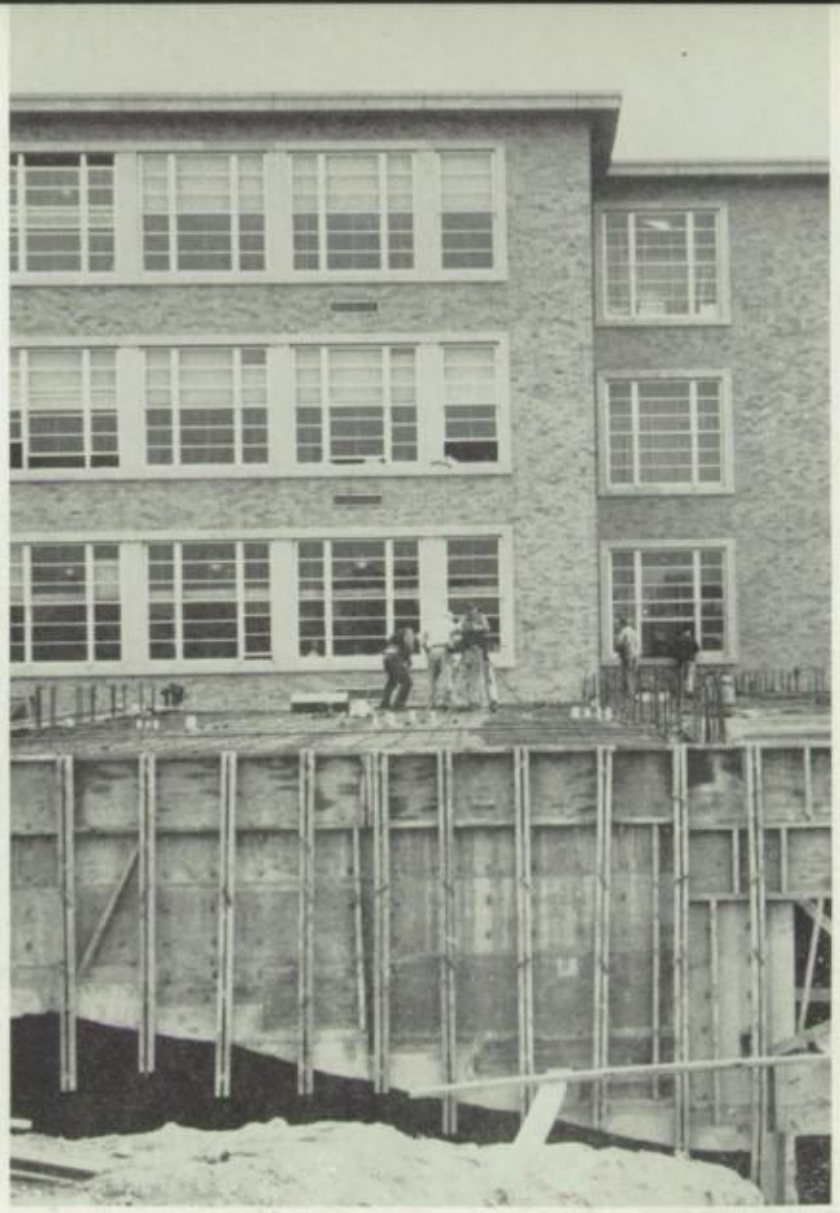
The last dance . . . the climax of the party . . . the open house . . . these and many other memories will reflect on the mirror of your mind. The new friendships begun, the project planned, the informality of it all . . . These are memories of Woodward. Memories of which to dream; memories to recall. This again is Woodward.



and the dances we enjoyed . . .

Progress is ever present . . .





Each day goes by much the same as the one before, but our environment changes. Woodward High School, though old in age and tradition, of necessity must change too. This year has seen the beginnings of more expansion and improvement. Plants, shrubs, and trees have been planted to beautify the grounds, two new wings have been added to the building, and a new gymnasium is under construction. All of these additions reflect the spirit of Woodward High School—to remember the old, but to look foward to the new.

Mr. Winton L. Moeller

The future of the United States and, for that matter, every other country in the world is in the hands of each individual citizen. Each and every member of the Class of 1958 of Woodward High School is important to the future of our country and we must be aware of the fact that we are being constantly challenged to the awesome problems of the world. With the impact of the launching of "Sputnik" and the knowledge that Russia is challenging our scientists, we must prepare to face such questions as these:

Is our educational system sufficiently effective in training citizens that can cope with the future? There are many that believe it is not. Certainly our education must progress and advance in pace with the advances made in all other phases of living.

Can Russia and the United States continue to support the population of the world?

Can we continue to supply food for some of the less fortunate countries of the world?

How can the backward nations become more dependent on their own efforts?

The use of atomic and nucleur energy is a baffling problem. Will our country show the way to harness and control this source of energy which may revolutionize our way of living? Certainly we, the Class of 1958, must play a large part in resolving these questions and problems.

The challenge is ours to the extent that we meet it; just to that degree will we be permitted the privilege of a successful future.

MR. ARTHUR I. VIGARD

The Counselors

MR. JOHN McCONNELL

Need help on planning your program, setting a goal in life, or planning your future? The three counselors, Miss Zerita Schwartz counseling the tenth and twelfth grades, Mr. John McConnell aiding the eighth and eleventh grades and Miss Georgia Blackwell coping with the problems of the seventh and ninth grades, are at your service to help and advise you. These big responsibilities are handed very well by our three capable counselors.

If a student has a desire to create, he can find fulfilment of this wish at Woodward. The talented art faculty tries to stimulate this creativity in their pupils by having them produce original works, many of which are on display on the walls opposite the art rooms and in the showcases at the ends of the halls. Using all possible media, the student is able to produce objects and drawings in which he can have pride.

Art Department

Business Department

Typing is an almost essential skill to all high school graduates. It, as well as other commercial subjects, may even help prepare many students for their life work. The business department, under the guidance of Miss Rosella Honekamp, strives to help these pupils attain their commercial goal.

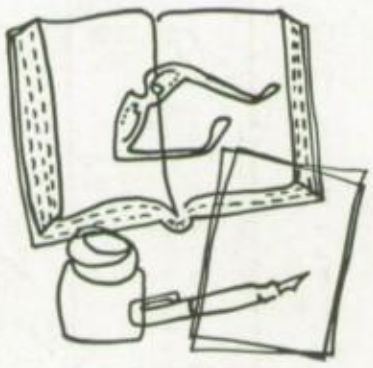
English Department



Grammar, literature, journalism, and speech, the arts of self-expression, compromise an essential part of Woodward curriculum. The English staff, under the guidance of Miss Curry, strives to instill in students the desire to compose, to read, and to practice all forms of the language. Students become familiar with the works of many authors and with the structure of their language.

If peace is to be preserved and if our civilization is to continue, a need for understanding among the peoples of the world is essential. The knowledge of foreign languages plays a key role in effecting this understanding.

To gain this knowledge Woodward students are offered courses in Latin, Spanish, German, and French. Because of the increasing demand for French and Spanish, these languages are offered in the 7 and 8 grades.

Foreign Languages

After passing through the haze of smoke, the smell of burning food and the chatter of teen-age girls one finds himself in the home ec rooms. Any girl from grades 7 through 12 may avail herself of the opportunity of becoming a better homemaker by taking the home economics course. Here in modern, properly equipped rooms she will study nutrition, sewing, child care, safety in the home, marketing, and happy family relationships.

Home Economics

Industrial Arts

On the ground floor of our building one hears very familiar noises—the loud roar of the bandsaw or the rhythmic beat of a hammer. The sounds are coming from the industrial arts rooms. These rooms are, perhaps, some of the busiest ones in the school. To provide experience in practical trades is the objective of this department.

Library

Whether you are seeking information, recreation or inspiration, Woodward libraries can supply you with the latest books and periodicals. If you need a quiet place to study, the libraries are open from 8 to 4 every school day.

The librarians, Mrs. Anna Borchin and Miss Ruth Bullock are always at hand to help with any reading problem or reference question, while Mrs. Jay efficiently attends to the secretarial work.

To "teach" students to reason logically and work accurately is the goal of the math department. This department trains students who are college bound and some who plan to terminate their education at the level of high school. There are fundamental courses such as general math and algebra, and more technical ones as plane geometry, math III, and math IV. For practical use, and for those who don't expect to attend college there is consumer's and business math.

Math Department

Numerous opportunities are provided for musically inclined students to develop their creative ability. The Ensemble and Senior High Choir under the capable direction of Mr. Robert McSpadden have given numerous performances for students and for the public. Miss Rita Will is in charge of Junior Choir and has helped her group be recognized for their singing talent. The junior and senior high bands and the senior high orchestra have provided music for games, concerts, dances, and the Showcase under the baton of newly-arrived Mr. Jack Snyder.

Music Department

Physical Education Department

All Woodward students, according to the present system, are required to take three years of gym and one year of health and first aid. The physical education program is designed to develop sound bodies and instill in each student an appreciation of good exercise and sportsmanship.

To help make these courses more of a pleasure is the aim of the physical education department headed by Mr. Carl Duning.

Science Department

Well-equipped laboratories are the background for Woodward science students. Here they are able to increase their knowledge about plants, electricity, and the human body. There are courses in general science, botany, zoology, physiology, physics, and chemistry, which are under the direction of Mr. Theisen, department head. These courses are necessary, for they help to prepare us for the rapid pace of modern times and to keep us informed of what will be done in the future.

Left to right: Mr. Connelley, Mr. Coyle, Miss Steuernagel, Mr. Sleuter, Miss Lunsford, Mr. Theisen, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Ruley, Mr. Solomon, Mr. Montgomery.

A traditional part of our curriculum has always been the social studies course. While in the elementary grades, students study the geography and history of the Western Hemisphere; in high school, students trace culture and development of nations. The wise can profit by the mistakes and successes of others—social studies teachers try to impress this.

Football

Extreme credit should be extended to our gallant crew of Woodward Bulldogs, led by Coach Nate Harlan, for their performance in their 1957 football season, as this team experienced the heartbreak of disastrous early season losses and crippling injuries to key personnel, but transformed what looked like a very bleak campaign into a second place triumph. This thereby recorded the most successful football season in Woodward's young athletic history.

The first four games of the year, all of which resulted in losses to Purcell 60-0, Elder 32-0, and Norwood 9-0, probably would have proven disastrous to a less courageous team. The Bulldogs, however, struck back. With a desperation pass play from Earl Poffinburger to halfback Bathel Rasner in the dying seconds of the game, the blue and white drew Hughes to a 25-25 tie. This sensational comeback inspired the Bulldogs to greater heights as was evidenced by the following week, Woodward routed a good Walnut Hills eleven, 32-13 for its first success of the season. They chalked up their second straight triumph at the expense of the Taft Senators 26-13, by limiting a strong rush attack which constantly kept them off balance. With eighteen men benched by flu, the Bulldogs were closely clipped by Withrow. In a non-league encounter, our boys crushed mighty Greenhills 41-7. The Central Knights clinched the P.H.S.L. title by narrowly defeating the Bulldogs 13-7 with a 70 yard punt runback by Charlie Heard. The final contest of the season saw Woodward gouge out a hard earned 20-7 victory over last year's champion, Western Hills Mustangs.

Football

Woodward's record for this year mounted to a respectable four win, five loss, and one tie which translated into P.H.S.L. language reads as a 4 & 2 second place. Probably the outstanding reasons responsible for our success over the latter half of the year were the improvement of the entire offensive unit, and the tremendously improved performance displayed by senior halfback Mel Rice, quarterbacks Arnold Bray and Earl Poffinberger, and junior fullback Dan Carpenter.

It should be noted that during the first four games of the season, Woodward did not rack up a single point, but in the following six contests tallied a combined total of 151 points; this was an average of over 25 points a contest, a good offense for any team.

Honors ran high and many for the Bulldogs during this, their best of seasons. Among them were the 28 varsity letters earned by: Dan Carpenter, Mel Rice, Earl Poffinberger, Bathel Rasner, Arnold Bray, Boyd Brock, Paul Brill, Jim Braunstein, Kent Miller, Herb Koffler, Bob Emerich, Larry Cornette, Steve Clause, Max Cohen, Rod Elmore, Gene McGuire, Barry Schwartz, Ted Mayer, Dale Noris, Fred Frickie, John Jenson, Myron Wayne, Ron Kroner, Bob Hoshaw, Bob Shilling, Fred Labavitch, Tom Earlywine, and Walt Schroff.

Two Bulldogs smear Central Knight as Woodward loses 13-7.

Rising from these regulars were Earl Poffenberger, Dan Carpenter, and end Dale Noris, whose abilities earned them positions on Cincinnati's All Conference Football Team. Herb Koffler, Steve Clause, Ron Kroner and Rod Elmore received honorable mention. All City Dale Noris exceled even further to earn Ohio State honorable mention.

It is certain that next year will be one of rebuilding necessitated by the graduation of 18 varsity Bulldogs. The cause, however, is not hopeless. There still remains a strong portion of the defense, and junior potentials such as Dan Carpenter, quarterback Bob Shilling and linemen Larry Cornett and Steve Clause. This year's play found us finally coming into our own. The responsibility of maintaining or bettering this status rests with the ability of the future squad and the success of their season.

A non-consistent reserve squad, coached by Nick Weiler and assisted by George Diersing, was only able to attain a 2-5 record; as Western Hills, and Taft fell to the Bulldog's advances while Withrow, Hughes, Central, Norwood, and Walnut Hills were able to withstand it.

The Bulldogs, however, were faced with other problems than those of general competition. Among these were overall inexperience, injuries, and instability, due to varsity mishaps which summoned reserve to fill the higher ranks.

Although several, the reserve's losses were by little margin. So it was that 21 boys saw enough action to earn reserve letters. These were: Joel Lauman, Paul Woodward, Bob Newmann, George Owens, Bud Sales, Ken Kingsbury, Robert Nebolsky, Ken Morgan, Mike Cohen, Charlie Campbell, Ed Ferguson, Bruce Fister, Allen Davis, Art Laney, Jim Dudley, Walter Bohl, Stan Weiss, Mike Thiel, Bob McCollum, Bob Roberts, and Ken Richter.

"The outlook for the season of '58," Coach Weiler affirms, "is very good; with the help of Schroeder Junior High and our own Junior High squads, we will approach the ideal reserve situation—all sophomores."

The Bullpup 1957 season had to be chalked up only as one of experience; as their constant efforts seemed ultimately encapable of attaining success. Six times a spirited and encouraged team took the field and six times the Bullpups were turned from their goal by defeat.

Unlike, however, the average team, which after several losses would let their enthusiasm fall to the level of their success, our Junior Grid Men, coached by the able Stanley Castelli, daily worked through constant practice attendent to the necessary goal of improvement. A physical result of these efforts was their 14-0 defeat by Withrow; a contest unlike the whole of the season, which pictured the Bullpups as an ever-lasting offensive threat.

Yet, this work, specifically with tackle, counter, and reverse plays, was unable to correct their defensive deficiencies—in fact, to prevent opposing end runs and pass plays.

Thus, experience was, almost, the one product produced from this season. Such was exemplified by the 30 letters awarded for at least 50 per cent of the total season play. Letter winners were: Terry Adams, Curtis Carte, Lawrence Cunnigham, Robert Dietz, Ronald Durham, Hugh Dyer, Lawrence Elliot, Ron Fogal, Charles Husman, Allen Johnson, Mike Kahn, William Kimbrell, Errol King, Steve Karb, Stan Mathews, Arthur McCandlish, Keith McGuire, Robert Mitchell, Marvin Nudell, Robert Pankin, Stanford Poley, Don Raines, David Rosenfield, Jerry Rosenwald, Eddie Southand, John Trerue, Arthur Shaw, James Vockell, Joseph Willians, Gary Pratt.

Considering such a record and the advancement of over 20 freshmen lettermen, one would think an outlook, if any, to be cynical. It is interesting, however, to note the optimism in which Coach Castelli speaks as he reaffirms that, "Experience is the best teacher."

Varsity Basketball

Under the leadership of Coach Sid Friedman, the Blue and White cagers compiled a fifteen and five record to capture, for the third successive year, the Lockland Invitational Christmas Tournament and to rank a solid second place in all P. H. S. L. competition.

Although the varsity dropped both their first and last ball games to the Wyoming Cowboys they bolstered a medial reputation good enough to demand the respect and recognition of any advisary. Only three times during the eighteen intervening games were they downed. These loses, however, were not accepted, as the Bulldogs took revenge by clipping all three: Central (80-75) Hughes (67-53), and Taft. Most exciting of the three was the Taft game during which the Varsity come dramatically from behind to cause a 70 to 70 overtime. The final score read Woodward 77, Taft 76.

"Size, speed, background, and scoring ability," Coach Friedman affirms, "were four basic assets of the '58 sqaud. One can not help but think that his ideas ran as follows: size, Ron Reis, 6'10" tall, third time varsity letterman, second string Post All City team, third string Enquirer All City team, and second highest team scorer; speed, Teddy Mayer and Mel Rice, both first time lettermen, both seconds for the hundred yard dash; experienced, Dale Norris, Pete Crummy, and Richard Roots, all Varsity lettermen, all backed by more than four years of competitive basketball; scoring ability, forward Dick Strobel, varsity letterman, tops in scoring with a sixteen point game average, honorable mention on the Post's All City team, and second string on the Enquirer All City team, and guard Brian Hersch, two time letterman, third man in the scoring column with 13 per game, first string guard on the Post' All City Basketball team, and third string on the Enquirer All City team. There is little doubt as to what coach Friedman meant by size, speed, experience, and scoring ability.

A summary of all season play reveals that the varsity totaled 1,279 to their opponents 1,101 points while dumping, at least once, Reading, Anderson, McNicholas, Walnut Hills, Norwood, Central. Impressive though this seems, such a season, we are told, is only good. With this in mind we look toward next year. This season, with little doubt, will be one of rebuilding, as only one letterman, Richard Roots, will return to fill the ranks. Next year's team will inherit a name semi-peaked at a "most dignified" basketball level. It will then be their most difficult task of either maintaining or bettering the heritage handed down. Whether they are capable of such a task is to be seen next year.

Reserve Basketball

Using the lateral two platoon system, (one junior and one senior team), the reserve cagers, directed by Coach Ollie Freeze, gained experience and skill, while winning five and dropping 9 in the 1957-58 season. Such a record compensates for itself when ultimate basketball goals are kept in mind—varsity championship. Because the two teams of the reserve squad seldom combined their respective outstanding efforts, a so called best team could not be produced. Although this system affords little recognized reward, it must be remembered that each grade is gaining experience and skill individually and as a team. No one can judge as yet the over all value of such a system. Will such grade level co-operation benefit future varsity seasons? Conclusions like these must be postponed to next year or even 1960.

Lettermen for this year's reserve squad are: (Juniors) John Holtzman, Walt Erdman, Bill Randolph, Jerry Saxton.

Junior High Basketball

Faced with the task of rebuilding, the Bullpup Cagers, lead by Coach Nicholas Weiler compiled, with four wins and eight losses, a .333 1957-58 season. Such seems almost outstanding when we consider two major defiicits: first, the fact of inexperience due primarily to the limited background of all players; and second, the misfortune of having little practice because of varsity and reserve seniority over the gym.

Eight boys from the Bullpup ranks collected enough playing quarters to earn Junior High letters. From these (L. Elliot, L. Nudell, E. Southard, R. Shappacher, J. Williams, B. Mitchell, L. Cunningham, T. Adams) only one, T. Adams, will be back. The outlook this suggests is similar to that of last year—poor! The fact, however, is quite to the contrary. With the addition of eighth graders G. Piatt, S. Matthews, T. Wolf, and the facilities of a new gym, we can well look forward to a successful '58-'59 season.

Cross Country

Trained by coach Sid Friedman, both the varsity and reserve squads placed a modest fourth place in city and district Cross Country competition.

Setting the Bulldog pace was the "junior trio," Barry Binkley, Jerry Saxton, and Jack Hebbler. In all but the state competition, Barry and Jerry constantly fought for second and third places, while Jack followed with a valuable seventh. Then, at the state meet, out of a field of one hundred and fifty, the three placed seventh, eighth, and seventy-first respectively.

Credit seems due, however, not only to the heroes, but to all boys who took part in this recognized physical yet realized mental challenge—the two mile run. Besides the "junior trio," Bill Miller, Earl Weiskettle, and Bob Wigglesworth earned Varsity Letters.

Because no lettermen will be leaving, being all juniors, and because several sophomores will be rising in ranks, Coach Friedman entertains high expectations for the season of 1958.

Gym Team

The Woodward Varsity gymnastics put together the strongest team in their young history. Coach Stan Castelli commended the team for the fine work and good standings. The Varsity and Reserve Bulldogs finished second in the P. S. A. L. and Invitational meets. During these meets Woodward varsity gymnasts were victorious with Walt Rubin finishing first in the rope climb, and reserves Nat Shmalo capturing a high standing.

The outlook for the following year is very prosperous with many reserve and varsity lettermen returning for another hard year of practice. These boys are: Michael Burns, Walter Rosenthal, Robert Shilling, Paul Trefz, Robert Yonka, Thomas Enneking, Edgar Ferguson, Bruce Fister, George Fromhold, William Henefelt, William Norlfolk, John Pratte, Mark Rodner, Charles Schmidt, Nathan Shmalo, and Arnold Tilford. The outstanding senior gymnasts were: Carl Freudenberg, Ken Kirsch, Robert Leland, Walter Rubin, and Wayne Siebe.

Junior High gym team likewise had a prosperous year. They took third place in the qualifying meet and captured fourth place in the championship.

Varsity Swimming

Aided by an improved pool, the Bulldog mermen, under the direction of Coach Melvin Russel, placed fourth and sixth. respective. They placed in city and district competition before finishing an impressive sixth rank in all state interscholastic swimming rivalries. Backed by lettermen Gerry Sapadin, Stan Dragul, Bill Blount, got Charlie Goldsmith, James Dutro, Jack Yee, Bruce Oliver, Jeff Dutch, Steve Levitch, and Herb Koffler, the varsity totaled an impressive 477 points in a series of 13 meets to defeat, at least once, every team met except the destined City and District Champs, the Western Hills Mustangs.

The Junior High team, supported by S. Fleisher, H. Ratzman, E. Fewr, D. Rosenfield, D. McPhernon, D. Rand, L. Psky, F. Bernstein. The Bullpup splashers drew experience while reaching sixth and eighth in P. H. S. L. and District swimming meets.

The varsity mermen owe a great deal of their success to Senior Keith Dimond who, in reality, took almost all possible honors in this, his last year of his high school career. Keith will graduate leaving his name associated with five pool records, three P. H. S. L. city records, one Southwestern Ohio District record, and first and second in the state 150 yard individual medley and 100 yard butterfly respectively to compile fifteen of the final sixteen Woodward State points.

Next year's team is one of question. It is true that outstanding Keith Dimond will be graduating. It is also true that the whole of this year's teams was juniors and that next year's varsity mermen as freshmen copped city championship.

Tennis Team

The Bulldog Tennis squad, under the direction of Coach Stanley Castelli, compiled by press time, a three and three record for their 1957-58 season. Leading the team through P. H. S. L. competition are Bill Fogalman (first singles), Charlie Goldsmith (second singles), Brian Hersch (third singles), the team of Mike Dictor and Stan Pollins (first doubles) and the team of Harley Zwerin and Jerry Rosen (second doubles).

The Bulldogs, as yet, have defeated Bellview, Hughes, and Purcell, while falling to Western Hills, Withrow, and Wyoming. Three of these early season meets (Hughes, Withrow and Western Hills) are to be used for final P. H. S. L. standings. Although one win and two losses compile this record, enthusiasm for success arises from the fact that matches and not meets are the basis of computation for final official ratings. In this respect the Bulldogs are not far behind and have ample chance to rank a respectable place.

The Bulldog diamond-men lead by able coach Bob Von Holle, compiled a three and two record to start off their 1958 baseball season. Not content with just scoring runs, and maintaining the third place standing of the '57 season. This year's blue and white foster hopes of attaining first place and P. H. S. L. Championship.

Such hopes, we are informed, are not without basis, with an able defensive squad and strong pitching in the form of Dale Norris, Bill Randolph, Fred Fricke, and Ron Kroner. The Bulldogs have but the task to hit, run, and score.

Even this is not enough, affirms the winning enthusiast, Coach Von Holle. The Bulldogs can field, pitch, and often score. But there remains one thing more. They must score. "We play to win," the varsity coach advances, "why keep score!"

Menaced with the lack of depth the Bulldog cindermen lead by head coach Ollie Freeze and able assistant Sid Friedman, ranked a close fourth while defeating Walnut Hills, Taft, and Western Hills, and falling to the clutches of Hughes, Withrow, and Central.

There is reason to believe that the rank of fourth place is not final. Because the season is still young, possible potential has not yet been developed. However skill and experience still remain. In track events Barry Binkley, Jerry Saxton, and Teddy Mayer share honors—Barry and Jerry in the mile run and "Theo" in the 100, 440, and 220 yard sprints. (Doing the 220 in 22.2 seconds.) In the field Max Cohen and Arnold Bray play their part in weights and jumps respectively.

The Junior High, on the other hand, gained experience while building up for varsity competition. They, as yet, have no interscholastic rating. Between now and the final State Meet the Bulldogs will compete in the P. H. S. L. Invitational Relays, and City Championship Track and Field Meet, The Miami Relays, The District Invitational Meet, and The State Interscholastic Meet.

What the Bulldogs do then is completely dependent on depth and potential development.

Golf

Woodward's 1958 golf team reported a largely inexperienced, though eager, eight green-men composed of sophomores, juniors, and only two seniors. Coach Nate Harlan gathered a promising group of predominantly young talent in his second year at the helm of Woodward's golfing squad.

Seniors Dick Strobel and Keith Dimond were the only two golfers who had seen previous league action. Rick Pressler, a sophomore and Dick Spatta, a promising junior, helped round out Woodward's front line crew. Doug Sanders, Walter Schroff, John Hill, and Bob Emrick rounded out Woodward's eight man squad.

Tryouts were held on Avon Field's mountainous terrain where scores soared and putts failed to drop. Qualifying was a three day ordeal, with each participant playing nine holes each day. While weather held up during qualification and early matches, nature dealt Bulldog linkmen several cold, wet plays. However, this was to be expected during the spring months of April and May. Any prophecy of the coming season would therefore be impossible.

The "W" Club

The "W" club, ponsored by Mr. Carl Duning, can be classified as the "honor society" of varsity sports. All members must have at least one varsity letter in any of the nine seasonal sports, and a 2.1 or better scholastic average to be eligible. He must also have favorable recommendations from his athletic instructors.

Not only honorary in purpose, the "W" club has sponsored several fund raising projects. Among these are the sale of pillows for ball games and the service as coat room attendants at school social functions. All money earned is advanced to the Athletic Fund for more and better equipment.

The main objective of the Senior G. A. A. is to give interested girls an opportunity to participate in extra-curricular sports. The program ranges from the highly competitive sports, such as hockey, basketball, softball, and volleyball, to more recreational sports, such as archery, golf, and bowling. It also includes specialized clubs for the girls with abilities in the fields of modern dance and synchronized swimming. The turnout for intramural sports this year was the highest ever. Volleyball topped the list with ninety-eight girls participating.

However, sponsoring a full time sports program is not our only goal. Along with the fun and value from the health standpoint in taking part in these sports, we are also interested in the social, mental, and emotional aspect of things. Developing leadership and responsibility, learning to win and lose gracefully, the fun of belonging to a group—all these are important. Planning social affairs for the members was given special consideration this year. The board planned several nice events. Included among these was the "Bunko Party", an afternoon social; two initiations; and an open house after a basketball game in January.

G. A. A. offers its members a wealth of opportunity to engage in almost any type of activity, and because of the great response from the students this year, we feel that we can pat ourselves on the back and say, "A job well done!"

The girls were anxious to get indoors after being outside for so long. Dribble, pass, and shoot were the shouts of the girls as they got the feel of the court again. Referee's whistles blew and the girls screamed as the teams competed for first place in the intramural tournament.

Girl's basketball differs from the boys in that it is not as strenuous and fast. It is one of the most popular G. A. A. activities. Attendance at a specific number of practices is required for eligibility on a regular team. Team captains are chosen from the girls participating by the manager and advisor. The honor team members are chosen for their sportsmanship, leadership, and skill. Although we didn't participate in the playday we had a very successful season.

Each year more girls are found on the hockey field during September and early November. This sport takes a great deal of endurance due to the constant running and a necessity for team work. This year we were able to send four teams to hockey playday to represent our school, and the honor team brought the season to a successful close with the traditional game against Hughes resulting in a 3-0 victory for Woodward.

Basketball

Archery

Yippee! My first bulls-eye! Ah, heck, its a rebound! That lowers my score four points.

Archery season started off with a bang in the fall and lasted four weeks. Practices were held at twenty yard distances. Five honor archers were chosen from the fifty-five girls that came out.

Volleyball

After the Christmas holidays, shouts such as "up and over" were heard coming from the gym as the girls were competing for volleyball championship.

The honor team was picked from the girls who showed the most skill in playing volleyball, as well as good sportsmanship and plenty of team spirit. The annual highlights of volleyball season was the honor team vs. the women faculty game. As usual this event served to be a very interesting event, with the student body cheering for the girls, while the teachers showed their enthusiasm for their team of friends.

Softball

"Play ball," is the popular call of the spring season as the girl's softball teams swing into action. The tournament competition provides both educational and recreational opportunities for the many girls who participate in one of G.A.A.'s most popular sports.

As in previous years, this season was highlighted by the annual All-Sports Playday held at Lunken Playfield. Woodward was represented by four softball teams which gave the usual good account of themselves, not only in competitive quality but also in sportsmanship. Softball is the final G.A.A. sport of the season and it closed a very successful year for our organization.

The polywogs boasted this year of a membership of 66 girls, the largest membership the club has ever had. They also presented their longest show which consisted of a cast of one hundred people. This was made possible with the aid of the guppies and a few members of the boy's swimming team. The first boy-girl duet was performed in their Toyland production.

Members of Woodward's Modern Dance Club are selected by their ability to perform the required skills with rhythm, poise, and grace.

The faculty advisor for the club is Mrs. James Kroencke, while Joanie Wasserman and Carole Beroset occupy the offices of President and Secretary-Treasurer respectively. By its participation in the Showcase, and the Art League and Arbor Day assemblies, this group has become well known throughout Woodward. A new idea, a Mother-Daughter Tea, was begun this year with the hope that it may become an annual affair.

Student Council

Woodward School Council is based on the principle of representative government with growth in leadership and increased student participation as its goals.

It is the duty of each homeroom representative to keep his classmates informed of council's activities; to represent his homeroom in the Representative Assembly; and to be an active, contributing member of one of the committees of council. Thus he comes to understand and appreciate the workings of a democracy.

School Council has come a long way toward attaining its goals by embarking earnestly upon numerous projects which provide for the practical application of leadership and democratic principles. Council's task, then, is to adopt a program of activities designed to improve citizenship, encourage scholarship, and to serve the best interests of the school and the community.

The 1957-58 Council has met this task realistically and has put into effect several projects. Among these are the adoption of the Woodward Creed, participation in several city-wide charity drives, establishment of an entertainment program for the inmates of Longview State Hospital, chartering of school organizations, sale of Woodward china, supplying milk and doughnuts between exams, discussions in the homerooms of higher standards of scholarship, establishment of evaluation programs, sponsoring of several social affairs including Woodward's first Homecoming Dance, and preparations for Citizenship Week.

Second Row, Standing: Paula Nebolsky, Phyllis Lerman, Lynne Calvin, Stan Dragul, William Miller, Dick Calvin, Walter Schnne, Reba Wood, Phyllis Werner.

The Executive Council consists of the Council officers and the chairmen of School Council's nine standing committees. Its work is broad and varied. The projects of all committees must first be approved by the Executive Council before being presented to the Representative Assembly. The Executive Council acts as a clearing house for suggestions and questions concerning council business. Here ideas are born, discussed and put in motion. This body acts in an advisory capacity and is also a policy making group. During its informal meetings the aims of Council are crystallized and many of the problems are solved and eliminated.

The sponsor and advisor of Council is Mrs. Dorothy Schroeter with Mr. Eugene Shrimpton acting as coordinator. Other faculty leaders are Mr. William Spreen, Mrs. Della Heitkamp, Mr. Max Coyle, Miss Jennie Fine, Mr. Joseph McConn, Mr. John Howard Owen, and Mr. Winton Moeller.

This year's annual staff was given the task of capturing the typical day of a Woodward student in copy and pictures. Scheduling individual pictures, photographing all school activities, launching a subscription campaign, and persuading merchants to buy ads was only a beginning of our work. When the pictures were returned they had to be identified and copy for each one written—often rewritten. The familiar annual soon began to take form, and then one day we knew we were almost finished when the printed pages arrived and nightmare of proof reading began. But finally, word by word, the completed product emerged showing the story of a day at Woodward.

Bulldog

Seventy-five Woodward students and teachers combined efforts to give their high school a weekly paper, the Bulldog Barks. Through tireless working, the staff and faculty advisors, Mrs. Madonna Vance and Mr. John Sunnenberg, turned out thirty issues, informing school, home, and community of Woodward news, editorials, features, and sports events.

Seniors Keith Dimond and Sue Hill headed a group of eight editors in the positions of Editor-In-Chief and Managing Editor. Signe Von Gerichten displayed her talents by working in the position of News Editor, giving the paper a "face" in the front page. Pam Irvin, also a senior, dealt with editorials on page two, while Sandy Reed featured various news items around school on page three. Roger Collier, a junior, and Frank Slesnick, a sophomore, represented the paper's young talent with their work on the Bulldog Bark's interesting Sports Page.

Although the Bulldog Bark's "Very Good" rating, nationally, is commendable, great strides will be made next year to improve. Advertising Manager Frank Hartung, and Financial Manager Chuck Kemman served invaluable service throughout the school year.

With a fine crop of journalism students moving up in ranks, the Bulldog Bark's future looks bright.

Each day at the Sixth Period, one hundred five young voices blend in beautiful sound from the Lunchroom Annex. This is the Woodward Junior Choir, directed by Miss Rita Will.

The president of Junior Choir is an ambitious young man, Charles Husman, who had the distinction of being an officer of Junior Choir for two successive years. He represented Woodward this year at a Young People's Symphony Concert in the presentation of a silver baton to Dr. Thor Johnson, Director of the Symphony, as a parting gift from the Junior High students of Cincinnati.

The reportoire of the choir has been ambitious and varied, running the gamut from such great works as the Bortniansky "Cheoubic Hymn" and the Gounod "Lovely Appear" to such currently popular favorites as "Round and Round" and "Catch a Falling Star."

Senior Pep Club

One of the largest and most active organizations at Woodward is the Senior Pep Club. Among its many service projects are Pep Assemblies, Annual Blue and White Day, chartered buses to the football and basketball games, and a special section at the games for all members. A party for the Woodward participants of all sports and the sale of shakers, pennants, and ties are also among the activities of Pep Club, and let's not forget the primary purpose, the promotion of pep, enthusiasm, and school spirit.

Pep Club membership this year totals 354 students from the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades. These students become members upon paying fifty cents at the beg'nning of the football or basketball season. This membership entitles them to a reduced bus rate to the games.

Because of its large membership it is necessary to formulate and execute most plans through the Pep Club Board. This board calls on the members to contribute both ideas and efforts through committees. The Pep Club Board consists of the faculty sponsor, Miss Marilyn Shepler, Joanie Wasserman, President; Barbara Weber, Vice-President; Harriet Cummins and Karen Liukkonen, Secretaries; Sandy Read, Treasurer; Margaret Lucy, Historian; Carol Hoffeld, Head Cheerleader; and Carole Beroset, Head Majorette.

Business Club

The purpose of the Woodward Business Club is to develop knowledge of the business world, to help each member grow in personality and leadership, and to render service to the school and to the community.

To attain these goals twenty-five members met every second and fourth Wednesday of the month.

In November, February, and April the members visited the Gibson Art Company, South-Western Publishing Company, and Procter and Gamble Company, respectively.

In December and March Mr. A. O. Wells, Personnel Relations Dept. of the Post Office and Mr. George Young, President of Better Business Bureau were invited to address the group.

Several of the club members assisted the counselors with the mailing of postal cards and questionnaires in the follow-up of the Class of 1957.

A picnic in May brought the 1957-58 year to a successful close.

Tax Stamp Council

The Tax Stamp Council exists for the good of the school. Homeroom representatives are chosen at the beginning of the school year. From these students a council is selected to handle different aspects of a tax stamp organization. Under the direction of Mrs. Tristler and Mrs. Davis the council functions in three branches. A committee to present information to homerooms, an art committee to illustrate statistics and information by means of posters and charts, and a group which keeps records and distributes tickets for entertainment rewards.

Entertainment is given to students who bring in the required amount of tax stamps, during a certain length of time. This year there have been one live talent show, a movie, and a contest followed by a program to interest the students.

Construction has begun this year on a new gymnasium. All tax stamp refunds will be used to help purchase seats for the new and larger gymnasium.

French Club

The French people are an exciting, gay people. Their language is a dynamic reproduction of their way of life. The French Club helps the student gain an insight into the customs and culture of the French people.

"All the world loves a Frenchman" is a suitable phrase when the French Club gives its annual performance at the Christmas party. Other club activities include a breakfast in April, picnics, movies, and guest speakers.

The meetings are presided over by the president, Ann Neidermeyer. The vice-president, Martha Meyers, is chairman of the committees concerned with the Club. Carol Hall, secretary, can be seen each meeting busily taking notes. French Club's vault is guarded by the treasurer, Ann Follin. Acting as advisors for the club are the "deux bonnes bossettes," Miss Faught and Mrs. Parker.

The Art League, one of Woodward's largest organizations is mainly responsible for the beautifying of our school building and the grounds. Under the leadership of President, Anita Stith and advisor of the Art Department, Mr. William Marshall, this club, represented by one representative chosen from each homeroom, provides for the exhibitions of paintings by famous artists as well as our own art students. Pictures are also purchased to add to Woodward's collection.

This year Art League tried something a little different. They sponsored a dance in the Meridian Room which proved to be very successful. A big feature in the yearly activities is the decorating of the halls during holiday seasons and contributing toward the purchase of the shrubs around the school grounds. The terrace around the statue of William Woodward was also helped by the Art League. Decorations for the May Fete and other projects also fill the year's busy activities.

Other officers are: Carol Casper, Senior Vice-President; Babs Weiss, Junior Vice-President; Rosalie Rogoff, Recording Secretary; Patti Schneider, Corresponding Secretary; Penny Wray, Treasurer; and Judy Routzong; assistant to the Treasurer.

3. To develop the beginning of professional attitudes.
4. To give members an opportunity to work with children in situations where they may realize potential satisfaction in teaching.

The Student library assistants are on duty every period of the day as well as before and after school. Shelving, arranging displays, pasting, filing, writing overdue notices, running errands and processing library permits are the varied and indispensable jobs they perform.

A sterling silver pin and a Woodward Award certificate are given to each library assistant who serves at least 50 hours. However, the intangible rewards of serving their school and gaining knowledge of library procedure are much more satisfying to our library assistants.

The Physical Science Club was established this year to further the interests in science of students of Woodward High School by offering an organization in which they can meet, discuss ideas, and develop their individual talents. The club this year has visited an observatory, carried out demonstrations and discussions, and invited speakers from General Electric. The officers are: Jerry Landman, president; Henry Gertzman, vice-president; and Nancy O'Hair, secretary-treasurer.

The Key Club is an honorary service organization, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. This club is for boys who are selected from a group submitted by teachers. Once the names are obtained, forms are sent to each prospective member's teachers who grade him on leadership, character, and academic performance. The highest ranking individuals are checked by the executive officials of the school and, if found suitable, given membership.

The Woodward Key Club has sold programs at basketball games, decorated the large tree on the marquee of the school at Christmas, sponsored a showcase during Citizenship Week, and agreed to entertain at Longview under Student Council's "Entertainment For Longview" program. Two members also attended the state convention which was held in Cleveland.

The Woodward National Honor Society is one of 6,000 chapters active throughout the nation. Honor Society is dedicated to the stimulation of an interest in scholarship, leadership, character, and service—these qualities are therefore required of prospective members. Membership is open to juniors who maintain a 3.5 average and to seniors with a 3.1 average.

A homeroom period acquainting seventh graders with exams and the grading system, and a series in the Bulldog Barks on college selection are among the service projects. Activities include a formal initiation and banquet held at the outset of the year, and a picnic in the spring. The year is climaxed in May with the induction of seniors into the graduate chapter.

Assisting the sponsor, Miss Maita Levine, are Bob Fee; Carol Hoffeld, vice-president; Marty Schreiver, secretary; and Jennie Rahe, treasurer. An executive board consisting of four seniors and two juniors helps co-ordinate activities.

Future Nurses

The general aim of the Future Nurses of America, is to give its members a general idea of the advantages and disadvantages of Nursing and its allied fields. There are guest speakers, teas, tours, and many other activities the girls participate in. A few of these activities are working in their assigned ward at Drake Hospital, and then also doing Volunteer work throughout the city in order to earn a pin. There are many more activities, each one more fun, and linking the members a little closer with Nursing.

The club is under the fine direction of Mrs. W. T. Gordon of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hamilton County Medical Society.

Meetings are presided over by Brenda Behrle, president; Beverly Spiess, vice-president; and Maxine Levine, secretary-treasurer.

The Woodward Council on World Affairs, now in its second year, is fast becoming one of the leading organizations at Woodward. This year it has had many fine programs including speakers from Hungary and Indo China as well as local personalities. The "Council" is a senior high organization open to those students who have maintained a "C" average or above in their social studies courses.

The structure of the Council on World Affairs is such that all members may have an active part if they so choose. Most of the important business is carried on through standing committees upon which every member of the Council serves. Woodward's chapter of National Junior Honor Society was the first in the city of Cincinnati. Membership into this organization requires outstanding ability in scholarship, leadership, character, citizenship, and service to the school. Therefore, becoming a member is a great honor for a student.

It's program of activities include outside speakers, a Christmas party and planning the assembly program for the initiation of new members.

This year the debating topics related to foreign aid. David Dressler, Henry Gertzman, Jack Manischewitz, and Michael Minson have represented Woodward in inter-school competition this year.

In the preliminary debates held from November to February at St. Xavier High School, the Woodward Squad finished second, behind Xavier. The combined affirmative and negative teams overcame such opponents as Walnut Hills, Summit, Purcell, Glendale, and Xavier.

On February 9, the District Tournament was held among the teams that had opposed each other in the preliminary debates. An unusually close series resulted in Glendale, first; Xavier, second; Purcell, third; Woodward, fourth; and Summit, fifth.

In the Hamilton County Debate Tournament held at Xavier University on February 22, the Woodward squad met with more success. Both the affirmative and negative won their first two matches against Purcell and Western Hills. Xavier did likewise, and, at the end of the second match it was a tie race between Xavier and Woodward for the tickets to the state finals at Columbus. Xavier finally took the very close third match to win the day; Woodward placed a strong second.

Under the faculty supervision of Mrs. Miriam Stefanik, and Mrs. Phyllis Carter, the 1957-58 Debate Team took its place among Woodward activities.

Youth Fellowship

The purpose of this club is to tell others about a wonderful Friend. In this time of insecurity each of us needs to realize that God is the one person in whom we can find security. Thus it is our purpose to introduce you to an eternal Friend.

During the year this club has various activities. This year they have had an Autumn Picnic and a Thanksgiving dinner. They also presented a program to the patients at Longview. In the Spring they will have their annual Spring picnic for installation of officers.

Every Saturday night the Woodward Club meets with other city Y.F.C. clubs for a wonderful youth rally. There are quizzes, talent contests, movies, and wonderful speakers. There is also an attendance contest every Saturday night which Woodward has won a couple of times. Woodward's quiz team has won the city contest for two years. This year Woodward's team is now one of the top three. The Woodward's Y.F.C. Girls' Trio is top notch. They have sung at various schools and churches as well as at Dayton's Y.F.C. rally.

To top all this off, there are two big parties to which everyone wants to go, the Christmas Funspiration and formal Spring Banquet. Yes sir, you can't beat the Y.F.C. club for fun and fellowship.

Spanish Club

El Círculo Español es el club que ofrece diversión y placer a los estudiantes que hablan español. Yes, a lot of fun and enjoyment are offered to Spanish speaking students by the Spanish Circle, Woodward's Spanish Club. The year was started with a picnic at Roselawn Park. At the first regular meeting Dr. Vega from Cuba played his "Guitarra" and everyone sang Spanish Songs, and at other meetings there were some movies in Spanish, and a variety show given by the new members. The members ate dinner in a true Spanish atmosphere at the Spanish Inn and the club took part in the Christmas "Fiesta" given by all the language clubs. All these activities and more help to fulfill the purposes of the club, to promote interest in the language, to offer Spanish students a chance to converse in everyday circumstances, and to help them learn the culture of our Spanish-speaking neighbors.

Junior Drama Club

The Woodward Junior Drama Club has just completed its second official year with many stimulating activities. In December, new officers were formally installed and members were initiated for the year 1957-1958. December also proved to be important because we presented the one-act riot "Sure As You're Born," under the expert supervision of our sponsor, Mrs. Miriam Stefanik.

One of our most important purposes is to stimulate and create interest in drama among students. Our members have participated in many projects this year. Besides acting or working back stage, we took part in a Variety Show and made several trips to Grenhills, where we enjoyed seeing several plays. In the spring, we gave another play, more serious than the first. At our meetings throughout the year, monologues, skits, readings, pantomimes, and special acts are given. The experiences in Junior Drama Club gave its members an opportunity to participate in most phases of Showcase; pony chorus, specialty acts, continuity, and back stage committees.

At our last meeting of the year, the ninth graders reminisced about the years activities and presented The Last Will and Testament. The seventh and eighth graders countered with a prophesy about the ninth graders in the years ahead.

The almost one hundred students who attended our meetings twice a month proved that the Junior Drama Club is a thriving organization and will continue to grow in the years to come.

Senior Drama Club

The year 1957-1958 has been the most active one to date in the history of the Dramatic Club. This is shown by the fact that twenty-three members were initiated into the national honor society for participation in dramatic activities known as The National Thespian Society.

This year marked the clubs first adventure in straight drama, a three act drama "The Remarkable Incident at Carson Corners" presented in January and a one act play "The Informer" presented at a student assembly in April along with the initiation of New Thespians. This play was repeated in May in the Hamilton County Thespian One Act Play Contest. Woodward was the first school for this contest. The other schools participating were Mariemont, Sycamore, Elder, Colerain, and Deer Park.

During the course of the year one other major play was produced. The family comedy "The Family Nobody Wanted" was presented in November. Two assemblies were also written and produced by the Dramatic Club, one for the Art League and the Thanksgiving Assembly. Various other programs were produced during the course of the year with Dramatic Clubs help. Notable among these was the "Showcase of 1958." Most of the continuity cast and many of the specialty numbers were club members.

The season ended with the initiation of officers and awards for Best Thespian, Best Actor, and Best Actress which were made at the club picnic May 30.
